Course: AR135 Studio for Non-Majors

1. Department Social Sciences and Fine Arts

2. Purpose

The arts convey knowledge and meaning not learned through the study of other subjects. They represent a form of thinking and a way of knowing that is based in human imagination and judgment. The arts provide pleasure, but they are also intellectual disciplines of substance. Like language and mathematics, the arts involve the use of complex symbols to communicate. The study of art engages students in learning activities that require use of higher-order thinking skills like analysis, synthesis, and evaluation. AR 135 will help students develop these abilities, enrich their knowledge and experience, and broaden their perspective on the world around them.

satisfaction. English Placement Level: EN 093/094. Math Placement Level: None. (Offered Fall and Spring)

E. Degree or Certificate Requirements Met by Course

This elective course fulfills the General Education fine arts or arts and humanities requirement for the B.S. degree in Education, the A.A. degree in Liberal Arts, the A. S. degree in Natural Resource Management, the A.A.S. degrees in Criminal Justice and in Hospitality Management, and the A.A.S. degree in Business Administration: Accounting Emphasis, Business Management Emphasis, and Computer Applications Emphasis.

F. Course Activities and Design

This course provides hands-on experience in making art by exploring 3 to 5 different art media, leading to the creation of a portfolio. Instruction in the specialized skills of a medium help develop an understanding of basic art concepts. These may include, but are not limited to:

- * Drawing basics: Concepts in seeing, using pencil and charcoal.
- * Color theory: Color influences, properties, characteristics, etc.
- * Design exploration: Practical applications in printmaking, graphic design, digital imaging, painting and collage, etc.
- * Three-dimensional work: Ceramics, sculpture, jewelry, weaving, etc.
- * An original art or craft work.

Course activities also include lectures and demonstrations, art critiques, sketchbook studies, written assignments, quizzes, final exam, and field trips to art exhibits, art studios, and/or sites for art work. In addition, this course incorporates Web enhanced learning activities--Forums, Online assignments and pre tests--and the creation of an Electronic Portfolio.

9. Student Learning Outcomes

Upon successful completion of the course, the student will be able to:

- 1.0 Model the concepts of visual design;
- 2.0 Recognize and use the tools, materials, and techniques of art production in different digital media;
- 3.0 Use the observation techniques modeled in class and demonstrate those techniques in a drawing portfolio and in a digital electronic portfolio;
- 4.0 Demonstrate an understanding of color theory in an art work;
- 5.0 Describe in writing the processes used in creating and evaluating their designs utilizing the specialized vocabulary discussed in class;
- 6.0 Identify through written description, artists from different time periods and cultures and how they solved different design problems;
- 7.0 Create a bas-relief or a three-dimensional art work;
- 8.0 Exhibit finished designs properly; and
- 9.0 Demonstrate the concepts of art criticism both orally and with written examples.

10. Assessment Measures

Assessment of student learning may include, but not be limited to, the following:

- 1.0 Quizzes, a midterm, and a final comprehensive examination to evaluate the student's knowledge and abilities in cognitive reasoning and the identification, interpretation, comprehension, and application of the basic concepts in the study of art design.
- 2.0 Studio art projects, class participation, and a self-evaluating written journal that demonstrate an understanding of visual design, historical reference and social relevance.
- 3.0 Studio art projects that demonstrate understanding of the basic principles and elements of design and incorporate historical relevance and influences in the visual arts. These projects tend to be self-reflective and interpretive in nature.
- 4.0 Portfolio evaluation that addresses but is not necessarily limited to imagination, comprehension of ideas and concepts, originality, technical quality, presentation, success in solving the visual problems assigned, and the student's growth and progress over the semester.
