2. Purpose
   LI 150 is an introductory literature course that examines the characteristics of the major literary forms: the novel, short story, poetry, essay, and drama.
   Students will learn to recognize and evaluate the aesthetic value and themes of great works of ancient and modern literature. The course also provides a means by which students can improve their ability to write short papers, extending their experience in composition by writing about what they read and by employing literary analysis. Introduction to Literature or its equivalent is found in the Humanities curriculum of virtually every accredited U.S. post-secondary institution, and it fulfills a General Education requirement at most such institutions.
